

Who We Are

Long term care facilities are families, made up of heroic caregivers united in a common purpose and a relentless passion to serve our nation's most vulnerable population.

Our residents are a special group of individuals with stories to share – some have lived through world wars, and others have watched the first man walk on the moon.

Why Work in Long Term Care?

Build Lasting Bonds

- You're more than just your job title. You become a friend and family member to the residents in your care.
- The staff are the backbone of every long term care facility. Every employee is valued and cherished.

Start Your Health Care Career

- We are medical professionals. Working in long term care is working in health care.
- You learn invaluable life-sustaining skills working in long term care.

Upward Mobility from Day One

- Today's certified nurse assistant is tomorrow's registered nurse.
- Once you enter the long term care workforce you are on a path toward lasting and meaningful professional growth.

We need caregivers more than ever. Join us in serving our vulnerable population and start your meaningful career in health care today.